Amalite ROOFING

IF you had a sample of Amalite in your hand you would see in an instant why it needs no painting or coating to keep it waterproof.

It has a rough surface of real mineral matter on the weather side. It is evident to anyone that it is no more necessary to paint such a surface than it is necessary to paint a stone wall. Stone needs no paint; neither does Amalite. It is strong enough in itself to bear the brunt of rain and wind and sun without a protective coat of paint.

To paint Amalite would be a waste of time and trouble.

Amalite will last for many years without any care whatever. It is made to be trouble proof as well as weather proof.

A roofing that consists of smooth materials, made to receive a heavy coating of paint, is not a roofing at all—the paint is the real roof.

If you are told that certain roofings don't need painting when first laid, don't be deceived into thinking that they are like Amalite. The first coat of paint has been applied at the factory—that's all, and it will wear off in a little while and require renewal.

No paint is good enough to make durable roof, a thick layer of pitch, faced with a real mineral surface, is far better—and that means Amalite.

DEFENSE RESTED CASE.

Rutland, Sept. 22.—The trial of Antonio Valente of Mount Holly, an Italian, for the alleged murder of Deputy Sheriff E. A. Hayden of Ludlow, was resumed this morning when the defense rested its case. The defense rested its case this afternoon and some rebuttal was put in by the State. The arguments and judge's charge will be made tomorrow.

Mrs. Valente, the respondent's wife, was on the witness stand this afternoon. She testified that her husband broke his leg in November, 1907. He had pocketed his revolver on the day he was arrested for the alleged murder of Deputy Sheriff E. A. Hayden of Ludlow, with an axe, underwent a severe cross examination by Attorney General C. Pitt, kept to his command throughout. He told a connected story without varying from the original testimony, but differed from other witnesses as to which of Hayden's legs he cut. The State considered this a good point in its favor as Valente said when he cut the right leg of sheriff he struck at the officer's hand to prevent his taking a revolver from the right hip pocket. The doctor testified that Hayden's left leg was cut.

Court took a recess at noon until Monday afternoon.

A LUNATIC ESCAPES.

Montpelier, Sept. 21.—A telephone message was received in this city Monday afternoon of the escape of one Percy Oakes from an officer at Waterbury insane asylum, where he was being committed to the institution. He was in Dr. Stanley's office while the regular commitment papers were being made out. The fellow jumped through a door and started for the woods. The officer nearly caught him but sprained an ankle and could not run farther.

ASKED FOR DECREE.

Hearing in the Williston Chancery Case of Talcott vs. Bishop.

A hearing was had Monday evening before Judge Waterman, as chancellor, in the foreclosure suit of Harvey H. Talcott of Chicago, against W. Clark Bishop, et al., on motion of the orator's solicitor, H. S. Pack, for a decree. E. H. Taft and J. E. Cushman appeared for certain defendants. It appeared that ten years ago, W. Clark Bishop mortgaged the farm in Williston to Daniel B. Bishop for $5,000 and $2,500 of this remains unpaid, with two years' interest. At that time his sister, Mrs. Priscilla Ferguson, and her husband were living on the farm, and have ever since lived there. The orator at the request of some of the interested parties, all the parties being related, advanced money and took up the unpaid notes and brought foreclosure to fix the title to the property, and secure the payment of the unpaid notes. It also appeared that W. Clark Bishop on the same day he mortgaged the premises, but later in point of time, himself signed a written agreement to the Fergusons, which it is claimed by them gave them a life interest in the premises, subject to debt mortgage, however, in 1906 said W. Clark Bishop also signed another written instrument purporting to give his sister, Mrs. Ferguson, and his brother, Dr. Rufus W. Bishop of Chicago, a lease of said premises to secure to them both a home, subject to the other so-called lease. It also appeared that in January, 1907, said W. Clark Bishop executed a warranty deed of the same premises to Dr. A. L. Bingham, Charles D. Warren of Williston, George L. Pease of Burlington, and others, trustees for the purpose of establishing a home for the charitable poor in Williston. These trustees never organized.

Motion was for a decree against all defendants with one year's equity of redemption.

Mr. Cushman, for the Fergusons, claimed that they should have a longer redemption of the premises, than any of the other defendants, on the ground that they had an interest under the so-called leases.

Mr. Taft, representing Dr. Bishop, claimed that his client should have an equal opportunity to redeem with the Fergusons, because in the second so-called lease, Mrs. Ferguson and Dr. Bishop were given equal rights.

The solicitor for the orator asked that all of the defendants be put upon the same level, with one year's equity of redemption, but if any extension of time be given to any of the defendants, it should be given to Dr. Bishop, rather than to Mrs. Ferguson, who with her husband, had had the use of the premises for ten years, and had paid nothing on said notes. The orator's solicitor claimed that as between the Fergusons and the orator, those so-called leases which were not executed by anybody but W. Clark Bishop, gave the Fergusons no superior right or privilege over the other defendants, nor any priority in the equity of redemption of said premises.

The chancellor took the papers under advisement.

One purpose of the bill was to clear the title and fix it in some one person, and, secondly, to secure the payment of the mortgage notes, and to do this before any more of the parties to the original transaction had died.

CARS AT A STANDSTILL.

No Power to Run Them Because of a Broken Engine.

The electric car service in this city, Winooski and Essex Junction was suspended Tuesday because one of the vehicles and a casting of the American Woolen company's engine broke. The accident occurred at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning and for lack of power every car stopped wherever it happened to be. The water wheel at the Burlington Flouring company's mill, which ordinarily gives power to the generator, has been out of commission for a long time because of the low water.

The officials of the Burlington Traction company make the following statement: "The Burlington Traction company have a contract with the Burlington Flouring company for the full capacity of its wheel to operate the generator. If on account of low water, they were provided a second generator which is attached to the engine of the Burlington Woolen mills on the other side of the river.

"This morning about 8:30 one of the valves and a casting of
